

Georgetown Regulars May Be Out of Game---School Contenders in Action

TWO REGULARS MAY BE OUT OF LINE-UP IN SATURDAY GAME

Andy Dempsey, Fullback, and "Blondy" Mahlum, Guard, Suffering From Injuries.

GEORGETOWN EXPECTS WIN
Hilltoppers Show Excellent Form in Drill, Every Play Working Out Smoothly.

By LOUIS A. DOUGHER.

When Georgetown's varsity eleven tackles the Tar Heels at the Hilltop Saturday afternoon, it is more than probable that two regulars will be unable to start with the first whistle. Andy Dempsey's weak leg continues to bother him, and Coach Exendine is unwilling to take chances with his star punter and dropkicker. "Blondy" Mahlum, varsity left guard, is likely to remain on the sidelines, too, as his injured hand is healing slowly.

Though these two stars may not start against North Carolina, their substitutes are above the average, and the eleven will not be weakened much. Orland Leighty has first call on the fullback's berth. Unless his bad leg goes back on him, he will be there when the whistle blows. Otherwise O'Boyle or Finn will have the place.

Dan O'Connor is second-string man for Mahlum's place at left guard, and the big Boston boy is pulling for a chance to play. However, Charlie McCarthy is also in the running, and Coach Exendine will hardly make any choice until the day of the contest.

Increasing interest is being shown in this North Carolina-Georgetown game, and a big crowd seems assured. It will be the first real home appearance of the Hilltoppers, and the game will have considerable importance in determining the championship of the South Atlantic section. North Carolina meets Virginia at Richmond on Thanksgiving Day, and Georgetown will attempt to run up a higher score than the Orange and Blue against the Tar Heels. Logan Cunningham's team defeated both Vanderbilt and Georgia last fall, and practically the same lineup will be seen at the Hilltop Saturday.

Yesterday's drill at the Hilltop consumed the best of three hours. Coach Exendine was in sole command of his players, but he drove them up and down the field in brisk signal practice without difficulty. All the formations to be used against the Tar Heels were tried successfully. The forward passes going off like clockwork. Coach showed excellent form in gathering in the leather, and is certain to start on one of the wings Saturday.

C. U. may have to face the powerful West Virginia eleven Saturday without Rogers, the crack halfback, or Kerr, who has been playing a strong game in the line. Rogers is suffering from an old injury while Kerr, who wrenched his knee in the M. A. C. game, is still unable to take part in practice, though having no intention of quitting before the enemy.

Gallaudet is working hard for its contest Saturday with the Maryland Argies at Kendall Green. Both teams have developed fast within the last two weeks, and seem evenly matched.

Georgetown Trackmen Out on Cinder Path

Georgetown track candidates are expected to flock out for John O'Reilly's coaching today and for the remainder of the winter, as the first cinder track is brought out a generous response of new men and veterans.

Capt. Eddie Robbins, McNulty and Devlin, of last year's squad; Brett, New England youngster, and several other new men were working out yesterday. Plans are under way for a board track out of doors for winter use this year, and track prospects are unusually bright.

Phi Mu Sigma League To Start Basketball

The Phi Mu Sigma basketball league will start play Saturday week in Epiphany gym. Seven teams make up the circuit, which is expected to prove unusually popular. Chi Gamma, Mu Phi, Rho, and Sigma chapters will have teams, and double-headers will be played on Saturday night until a champion is declared.

At the conclusion of the season the pennant winner will meet representatives of the Alpha Chapter of Rockville, Md., and the Alpha Chapter of Alexandria, Va., for the sectional title.

Under Electric Lights

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 13.—An innovation in football training at Penn will be started shortly when the varsity squad will practice signals at night. Those huge arc lights have been strung at one end of Franklin Field and the squad will begin in it at 8 o'clock on Saturday.

Rockwell, one of the best halfbacks on the 1914 squad has worked off his conditions and is again eligible. He took part in yesterday's practice, making a good impression. Howard Berry, the star quarterback, is not expected to play as Annville being saved for later games.

Michigan Plays Today.

ANN ARBOR, Mich., Oct. 13.—Yost will send a matched team against Marietta in the third game of the Michigan season here today. Hilltopping in at St. Louis' end, with Whalen going in at left guard. The rest of the team will be the same as that which started last Saturday, with Roehm at quarter and Maubetech, Benton, and Smith as backs.

Beef vs. Beef.

How big is the Georgetown varsity eleven? Yesterday the Western High School squad, numbering thirty-nine players, happened to be seen standing near the Hilltoppers' first team. It is doubtful if the thirty-nine schoolboys weighed a pound more than the eleven collegians. It was beef vs. beef, with eleven huskies equalling thirty-nine school-boys.

TITLE CONTENDERS GET ACTION TODAY WITH LOCAL TEAMS

Tech Takes on Georgetown Preps, While Central Eleven Plays Gonzaga.

By BRYAN MORSE.

Two high school champion contenders will get action in football games today. Tech is meeting the Georgetown Prep eleven on Georgetown Field, while Central is meeting the Gonzaga eleven at Fifth street and Florida avenue. Tech's engagement with the Preps will be in the nature of a try-out for the Georgetown youngsters who are entering their first game of the season.

The Tech team has played the Episcopal High School eleven, has met Gallaudet in many practices, and is about ready to begin the series for the title right now. Central is ready to hand Gonzaga a beating as the O street eleven has been soundly trounced by two big teams in its first starts.

The Georgetown Prep team will go into today's contest minus the services of three regulars. Roe, who plays fullback, is laid up with charley horse, as is Stohman, right half. Monahan, quarterback, is also out of the game with a bruised shoulder.

Tom Gurry, former Georgetown guard, will referee the game, and Finnigan will umpire. The quarters will be limited to eight and ten minutes.

This battle will be the first of the inter-school contests in this city. Saturday St. Alban's and Western will mix it up in the second school game. St. Alban's has a number of contests booked with out-of-town schools. Western, the Eastern A. N. Prep, and the other local schools meet this year.

Chalk up a 33-0 victory for Business over the Alexandria High School eleven. Business has jumped right to the front on the matter of scoring, and is far in the lead on the other schools. Against the Hilltoppers Saturday Business scored 40 points, and yesterday's game with the Alexandria team runs the Stenographers' total to 52.

The faculty athletic advisers will meet today for the purpose of closing up the details of the scholastic championship series which starts at Georgetown Field on Tuesday next. John O'Reilly and Paul Magoffin have been selected as two of the officials while the third is still in doubt. Whabber, Farmer and "General" Calnan, Georgetown's quarter-back of last year, are out for the head line position.

Western has lost a good lineman in John Davidson, who is suffering from a broken arm. Davidson broke his arm cranking a machine last Saturday, and will be out of the game for the remainder of the season. It was a Ford.

Central is making preparations for the game with Episcopal High School at Alexandria on Saturday. The Central team is lighter than usual this year, and is coming forward rapidly. Episcopal will outweigh the Central, and no expert to make up in speed what they lack in beef. Seldon, Ochstadt, and Macdonald, with Molly Roberts, make up the Central back field.

With Western able to score a single touchdown against Alexandria, and Business romping off with a 32-0 score, and many substitutes being used by the Orange and Blue team, it begins to look as though the Westerners were due for a setback this year. Western's back field has been unable to keep from fumbling so far, and last many opportunities in both the Alexandria and Episcopal games.

Dartmouth Scrub Wins
On Scully's Field Goal

HANOVER, N. H., Oct. 13.—After an hour's hard scrimmage between the Dartmouth varsity and the second team, during which neither goal line was in danger, Scully won for the second team by putting over a drop kick from the 43 yard line. This was the only score of the afternoon.

Save for the putting of Gerlach, there were no outstanding features in the work of the varsity. Worthington in his initial appearance at quarter made a favorable impression, his great speed being a needed asset. McDonough, Switzer and Gillette are still on the injured list. Baxter's place at center was taken by Thielacher and Barrows left the fullback position open to Poole, who played a consistent game there. With the exception of the ends, whose work is still weak, the varsity line braced considerably, breaking through and demolishing the opponents' plays before they were under way.

Wants Games.

The Highland Athletic Club is organized for the season, and would like to hear from all teams averaging 135 pounds. Next Sunday is an open date, and a special deft is issued to the Empire Athletic Club or Ascension. Address reply to J. A. Soper, care of Lincoln National Bank, Seventh and D streets northwest, city.

A SLIP OF THE KNIFE, AND---GOOD NIGHT!

TODAY'S SPORT TUTORIAL

By LOUIS A. DOUGHER.

Though this is the "dead season" for the Old Fox, he is thinking of the coming campaign in the American League. He realizes that he must beat two ball clubs in 1916, if he is to land on top. One is Boston, the present titleholder. The other is Detroit, which finished ahead of him in the season just closed. He hardly figures Chicago as dangerous, though the Windy City crew may prove worse than that next year. But right now, the Old Fox is thinking that Boston and Detroit must be defeated.

Washington may have an excellent chance to win the 1916 pennant if a number of things pan out right. If the team trains where the veterans are not frozen from the first day to the last, it may get a good start. If Griff forgets his old argument that newcomers must show themselves "better than the regulars" before getting places, he may have a team in the field with "pep" and dash from the beginning. If the pitchers can do as well next spring as they did last, the team may be in a position to benefit by the increased hitting of the youngsters found this last season. But all these things are vitally necessary to the championship of the Griffmen in 1916. No half-way work will do. The Old Fox will have to cut to the bone. He will have to change past systems at the very start, and then hold to it, no matter what happens. The fans of the Capital will quit him like a hot coal if he attempts to open the 1916 campaign with that line-up opening the 1915 season.

We have been told that Ray Morgan will be sold, that Eddie Alinath will no longer be with the team, that Boehling is carried for a change of scenery. That Moeller's light hitting has marked him for dismissal. Very well, the fans have long since determined those changes possible—nay, probable. The first time Foster played second base, the fans knew that Morgan would not do. Alinath's lack of determination, his constant absence from the line-up, his lack of work when playing showed that he had outlived his welcome in the Capital. Boehling's in-and-out performances this past summer have caused a decided drop in his popularity. Moeller is too light a hitter to remain with a team already known as the lightest hitting aggregation in the league. But there are other changes that Griff might make which would greatly aid his ball club in the estimation of the fans. The principal one is the trading of Chick Gandil. The big first baseman is a fine player, but he doesn't want to play in Washington any more. He wants a change of scenery. When Gandil proposed a deal with Charlie Somers this past summer, he showed his hand. Griff took advantage of Gandil's purpose and traded him while the big fellow is still worth trading. Joe Judge didn't enough stuff in three weeks to warrant that first base will be no weak place in 1916.

The Phillies established a record when they copped the banner in the National League for 1915. The Griffmen will make just such a record when they land championship honors. The best opportunity they have had since 1912 should come next season. They will have enough young players fighting for recognition to give them the aggressiveness they sadly lacked when the 1915 campaign opened. If these youngsters are dropped like hot coals in favor of the veterans, all chances of success will fade away and the attendance at Georgia avenue will also take a decided slump. Washington feels that the Nationals' infield should be radically changed. They don't think that playing Joe Judge at first base will be enough. They realize that Eddie Foster is the best man in the infield, all things considered, and they want him there. But no other man playing there this past season is indispensable. If Carl Sawyer, Joe Judge, Morley Jennings, or Harry Hollingsworth, they want them in that line-up. If Foster has to play short, it will suit him. Foster was a shortstop before he was a second or a third baseman. If Jennings, Sawyer or Hollingsworth were to be traded, the Griffmen would be slightly injured, and will demand that Foster play short. Washington wants a winner, no matter how it comes. Griff also wants a winner. So it would seem to be up to Griff to pass up a lot of old stuff and begin over again.

Harvard Coaches Fear Virginia's Fast Team

CAMBRIDGE, Oct. 13.—Harvard coaches do not hesitate to admit that they fear Virginia's fast eleven which plays here Saturday, and every effort is being made to strengthen the Crimson defense. The line-up starting against Virginia will very likely be the final choice of Coach Haughton for the season. Withington, Fisher, Bradley and Wallie Trumbull aided in the coaching yesterday, driving the varsity to victory last night. Most likely Taylor was shifted from center to guard in the scrimmage, Harris being at center and Lyman at one of the ends. It now looks like Soucy, Lyman, Taylor, Dadman and Parson for five of the regular places. Gilman was out, doing a little work like Soucy. Lyman and get into the game against Virginia. If he does Harvard will be many per cent stronger than in any previous game and will be able to show a vast improvement in defensive play.

"Dug" Hillier Winner In Consolation Match

"Dug" Hillier came through with the consolation prize in the District championship tournament held on the Dumfries courts by defeating C. A. Tipton by 4-6, 4-1, and 6-1. The match was concluded yesterday, having been unfinished from Monday. Hillier and Miss Pauline Sykes won their way to the finals in mixed doubles defeating Doris and Mrs. Bettel. The score was 6-4, 6-2.

Neyland Drives Team; Mitchell Looks Good

WEST POINT, N. Y., Oct. 13.—The army eleven got in an hour's scrimmage yesterday, the first the team has had since the Gettysburg game. One touchdown came after a lengthy session at plugging the line. Mitchell carried the ball over and Oliphant kicked the goal. Mitchell's splendid work in the varsity backfield was a feature of the workout. Bob Neyland drove the team all the way to victory. It was Neyland's first appearance since the Holy Cross game. Neyland was in play from the side lines. Britton, who was hurt three weeks ago, also reported and will get in the game this week. Neyland was slightly injured, and gave up his place to Jones after a few moments' play.

Chevy Chase Women Are Qualifying for Tourney

The week is being given over to qualifying rounds in golf among the women at Chevy Chase, and Saturday is the last day for the women to turn in their cards for the special event arranged for their benefit, which will start October 15. The number of sixteen will depend wholly on the cards handed in, and the drawings will be made Monday. The second sixteen will start promptly at 10 a. m. and the first 3 p. m. The round will be played each day, the succeeding rounds starting at 10 a. m. and 3 p. m.

Music? Music?

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 13.—Dutch Leona, who pitched the Boston Red Sox to victory on Monday in a world's series game, forsook music as a means of livelihood to play baseball. Six years ago the Leonard family lived in Fresno, Cal., and was known for its musical ability. Dutch was a trap drummer. Until his success as a pitcher, he was considering taking up professional orchestra work.

UNDERGRADUATES IN BOWL CHEER ELEVEN

For First Time This Season Yale Opens Gates and Students Hearten Team.

NEW HAVEN, Oct. 13.—Headed by Beth Low 3d, captain of the varsity crew, and Captain Milburn, of the nine, over 3,000 Yale undergraduates marched to Yale Field in a body yesterday for the first open practice of the varsity football squad, and cheered practically through the entire drill. The demonstration, which it is understood was originally started by Head Coach Guy Nickles and Captain Low of the crew, was the most enthusiastic yet seen, and was the more remarkable in that it came after the defeat of Yale by Virginia and the playing of the team to a standstill by Lehigh. There were songs, cheers for each member of the team and for all of the coaches. The undergraduates saw the team defeat the scrubs by a score of 6 to 0. The work of the regulars was no cause for congratulations, however, for the scrubs came within an ace of scoring a touchdown against them, and during most of the time the varsity offense was ragged. The contest, which lasted it as "fair" at the conclusion of the set-to. More hard work will be necessary before the Springfield Training School eleven reaches New Haven next Saturday.

Yesterday was the first time that the Yale Field have been open to visitors, even undergraduates, for secret practice has been the rule all season. At the last two games, however, it was felt that the undergraduates' support was lacking and the gates were thrown open. A parade was formed by a band, and all other athletic activities were held in favor of football, that the members of other teams might witness the practice.

The scrubs made good headway against the varsity during the first half of the play, but the regulars held them for downs and took the ball almost the length of the field for a touchdown. Smith made the score, in which a forward pass, Wilson to Scovill, was an important factor.

Fordham Loses Star.

NEW YORK, Oct. 13.—Fordham is mourning the loss of Morcaldi, the varsity quarterback. In the last period of the third game Saturday he received an injury to his knee. The x-ray shows two torn tendons, and he will not play again this season.

If you don't want to toil for your cakes,
If labor fills you full of aches,
If pellegra does lurk
In your system, and work
Gives you the willies and shakes,
Just exchange your sorrow for mirth,
Land a world's series ump berth,
On the foul line you stand
And stretch forth your hand,
A thousand is what the job's worth.
An ump at the world's series gets a thousand bones for watching a foul line that scope poor boob has painted for two bits.
After watching the foul line umps in the first two games at Philadelphia, we're convinced that Rip Van Winkle was a fool for not doubling up as a demonstrator for a folding bed factory.

Prepares for Tigers.

EASTON, Penn., Oct. 13.—The Lafayette line showed the result of the vigorous methods used by Coach Crowell yesterday. They played together much better than they have for some days. Both in form and power the advance guard was stronger. With this encouragement Coach Crowell was enabled to give more of his attention to the back field. There was also a lot of fast punning in which the members of the back field took part on both ends of the pass. This play about very elastic by the time the Maroon and white meets the Tigers. Maxwell had so far recovered that he was able to kick a lot of kicking from placement, his favorite stunt. Ryan was again placed in the guard position in the scrimmage.
